During open enrollment, Marylanders can sign up for a plan from well-known insurance carriers like CareFirst, Kaiser Permanente, UnitedHealthcare, and Wellpoint Maryland, Inc. Vision and dental plans also are available.

"Maryland Health Connection is dedicated to providing quality health care for all Marylanders," said Johanna Fabian-Marks, executive director of the Maryland Health Benefit Exchange. "Even as health insurance costs rise across the country, the Maryland Premium Assistance Program is here to ease that burden and keep out-of-pocket costs down. We encourage everyone to explore their financial help options and preview 2027 plans on MarylandHealthConnection.gov."

About the Maryland Premium Assistance Program

Examples of 2027 Health Plan Costs

Health insurance costs vary based on factors such as income, age, household size, and where you live. The examples below show estimated monthly premiums for Baltimore City residents:

27-year-old individual living in Baltimore City

Income	Plan Type	Monthly Premium
$25,000	Lowest cost silver plan*	$0
$50,000	Lowest cost gold plan	$187.56

40-year-old individual living in Baltimore City

Income	Plan Type	Monthly Premium
$25,000	Lowest cost silver plan*	$1
$50,000	Lowest cost gold plan	$313.33

A family of four with two adults age 45 and two children ages 12 and 10 living in Baltimore City

Income	Plan Type	Monthly Premium
$50,000	Lowest cost silver plan*	$1
$75,000	Lowest cost gold plan	$201.68

*Individuals and families at these incomes are eligible for additional financial help to reduce their out-of-pocket costs, so a silver plan for these individuals will be less expensive overall than a gold plan. Gold plans normally offer a higher level of coverage than silver plans, but individuals and families at these incomes are eligible for special silver plans that offer a level of coverage as good as or better than a gold plan.
